THE BEECHER LECTURE.

A Large Audience Greeted the Plymouth Pastor—A Descriptive Chat.

An audience of magnificent size numerically filled the opera house last night to hear the lecture on "A Circuit of the Continents" delivered by the renowned Plymouth Church pastor, the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, now in the 71st year of his age. The lecturer was graciously presented to the intelligent audience by Dr.
Josiah Brown, and the talk began at 8:15, closing at 10 o'clock. At the appearance of the aged divine on the dimly lit stage, there was a slight ripple of applause, which ceased as soon as he commenced talking in a plain conversational style. Mr.
Beecher, who has a congregation of 2700 members at Plymouth Church, and has long been the most popular and most widely quoted of Protestant ministers, is a man of medium height, portly form, large, smooth, ruddy face, high forehead, and white hair worn long. His eyes are large and penetrating, and his manner is that of a dignified gentleman.

The lecture was entirely of a descriptive character. It was interspersed with many pleasantities which the audience was quick to appreciate. The talk was an interesting presentation of observations made by Mr. Beecher on the occasion of his trip of 18,600 miles across the continent, starting from Duluth, going over the Northern Pacific Railway to Washington Territory, thence by steamer to San Francisco; through California; thence to Salt Lake, through Colorado, east to Kansas City, through the Indian Territory to Texas, New Orleans, other points in the South, and home again.

A greater part of the talk was given up to a faithful description of the great Northwest, of its vast resources, of what the Great Northern Pacific Railroad had done and would do for the new country, and of the grand possibilities of the new country and its sturdy people. He eulogized Jay Cooke, the projector of the gigantic enterprise of building the Northern Pacific, who lived before his time, and spoke highly of Henry Villard, who foreshadowed the work.

Mr. Beecher, who has a son engaged in business at Seattle, in Washington Territory, pronounced that territory the Italy of the United States, a land most inviting to those wishing to attain wealth by steady work. There is no room in any part of the new country for idlers. All are workers, sturdy pioneers, and the returns are great in health and wealth.
He would have been established throughout the northwest, and they are springing up rapidly, for the family homes are God's greatest schools, and cannot be shaken or superseded.

Passing from California to Utah, thence through Colorado and Indian territory to Texas, Mr. Beecher dwelt at some length on his reception throughout the south, where they were uniformly enthusiastic, though before the war and during the struggle he with Wendell Phillips had lifted up his voice against the curse of slavery. He feared going south, but he was gratified and pleased to note that a change had taken place in the feelings of the people whose institution he had denounced so often. Large audiences greeted him everywhere. Here the speaker alluded to the alleged changed condition of social, business and political affairs in the south as he had observed them, and as they had been represented to him. He said that the people had gone to work and were growing prosperous; that the people had given up their bitterness and were coming to be united and harmonious for the common good of the country; but he neglected to explain, if such unity really exists, why it is that the "solid south" always goes Democratic.

Probably he did not make his tour through the south during election times. If he had perhaps some of his assertions about the united people would have been modified to some extent. Mr.
Beecher believes in honest work everywhere and he thinks that northern people who are slowly drifting south will infuse new life into the southern states and make them prosperous by properly developing that section of the United States.

In closing his lecture Mr. Beecher returned to Utah, and briefly outlined the moral condition of the Mormon people, who now number 250,000. The Mormons are easily managed for they are uniformly ignorant, and believe implicitly in the doctrine of the church, which is that the elders have direct revelations from God, who communicate the same to their people. The Mormons pride themselves on their morality, and point to the alleged fact that only the Gentiles in Utah are immoral and sinful. Mr. Beecher held that polygamy would die out of itself in time. He stated furthermore that the way to kill Mormonism is by educating the deluded and ignorant. Send missionaries into Utah, educate the masses, and the Mormon structure will surely fall. First do missionary work in the United States; educate the Indians; teach them to become farmers, abolish the reservation system, make the Indians work, educate the people, spread your contributions in missionary work at home, and then tackle China.

The educational plan cannot but prove satisfactory. It will do away with many evils that now exist.

The concluding remarks of Mr. Beecher were very tender and impressive. He predicted that all the evils that now exist and threaten the country must pass away.
New questions will come up. There are new problems to solve. We must meet them, and we must be prepared for the great questions.

The audience was very attentive, and but few left the hall disappointed. The interesting address, which included a vast amount of general information, was well arranged and presented in an entertaining manner.

Mr. Beecher will lecture at Danville tonight, and will spend Sunday in Chicago.

EDS. REPUBLICAN:—I know James W.
Huddleston well, and fully endorse all that has been said in his favor, and add, furthermore, that no man ever asked the suffrage of the people who was any more worthy than he. To the laboring men I would say that by working and voting for him you endorse and put in practice one of your main teachings, to-wit: That honest labor and honest merit must and shall be respected and rewarded.

Death of Brown.
Edward Brown, aged 22, who has been ill with small-pox in the old mad house at the poor farm, died last night, and this morning Steward Magee came to Decatur and got a coffin for the interment of the body on the poor farm. The deceased's folks live at Lafayette, Ind. He was a railroad man, and a stranger in this section; but he received the best of attention, and was nursed by a pauper who had had the disease. The case was quickly taken in hand and was handled so there would be no spread of the disease.
The mad house will be properly disinfected and the pauper attendant's clothing will be burned.

The Decatur Stage.
The coming theatrical attractions at the opera house next week will be the appearances on Friday night, the 18th, of the Rose Elyng dramatic company in "Felicie." On Saturday night, the 19th, will be presented "The Book Agent," by the Evans, Bryant & Hoey combination.
This company has its own brass band and orchestra.

A New Winkie.
Mayor Chambers, Chief Wayne and others are favorably taken with a new way of handling hose at fires. Instead of using a two wheeled cart, it is proposed that the department use wagons with a good wide bed, in which the hose may be laid lengthwise, so that when a fire breaks out, these wagons with the hose all ready for use can be quickly drawn by horses to the scene and pulled off the wagon as it dashes ahead beyond the fire plug. This plan is preferred because it will do away with twisting on reels and also because suitable wagons can be made at almost half the expense of hose carts.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.
Annual Meeting—Election of Officers—W. J. Wayne, Chief.

The annual meeting of the Decatur Fire Department was held last evening at Reeque Hose House. The nominees for chief were Mr. W. J. Wayne, George Kraft and George Brett; for second assistant Frank Weinbrenner and Lee Hall.
The following were declared elected officers of the department for the ensuing year:

Fire Chief—Wm. J. Wayne.
First Assistant—George Brett.
Second Assistant—Frank Weinbrenner.
Secretary—A. N. Diehl.
Treasurer—W. W. Foster.

The secretary's report showed that during the past 12 months there had been 26 alarms sounded to which the department had responded, and that the loss from fire and water aggregated $2,345, all covered by insurance amounting to $53,225. Remarks were made by the chief and his assistants respecting the organization of the proposed paid department, which will probably be formed during the summer as early as July.

The Jones Contempt Case.

The case of the City of Decatur against Daniel W. Jones, charged with contempt of court, is on trial before Justice Lowry.
Attorney Mills appearing for the city and Thomas Lee for the defendant. Some days ago it appears that Mary Frank-house had Jones arrested for using alleged improper language. The case was set for trial, but Mary did not appear and there was no prosecution. It is charged that Jones gave Mary a new dress not to appear against him, hence the present trial. The warrant for contempt was sworn out by Marshal Mason. A large crowd was in attendance all forenoon.

Death of Rev. Joseph White.

Mr. James Hollinger to-day received a telegram from Peoria, stating that Rev.
Joseph White, colored, pastor of the A.
M. E. church at Peoria, died at that place last night. The deceased was aged about 40 years. He was a son of the late Richard White and a brother of Mrs. John Bird, of this city. He was a resident of Decatur for many years, and was a native of Shawneetown, this state. He has been in the ministry 12 years.
The body will be brought here for burial to-morrow. The time of the funeral has not yet been fixed.

Excursion to Peoria.

On account of the republican state convention, which will be held in Peoria next Wednesday, the P. D. & E. have offered excursion rates to all who desire to visit the city on that occasion. The fare for the round trip from Decatur has been fixed at $3.15. Tickets, good going on day of issue, will be sold on the 14th, 15th and 16th, and will be good returning up to and including the 19th instant.

Mrs. Mitze, a female crank, hailing from Omaha, caused some commotion at Floury's corner last evening. It took Marshal Mason and two policemen to take her in charge and lodge her in jail where she could have a good night's rest.
The woman is well advanced in years.
Yesterday she visited the Republican sanctum, and after getting a paper, she stated that she was an entire stranger in the city; didn't know a soul, and didn't have a cent. Subsequently she was seen on the streets, acting queerly and closely inspecting the garments worn by Decatur ladies as they passed by.

W. Baker Says

he is still on deck with good, solid, serviceable shoes, at low prices, although he has too much respect for truth and veracity and the intelligence of the community to advertise "goods at half price" or "shoes regardless of cost" or "75 cent shoes that are as good as $1.00 shoes." Nevertheless he will sell you good shoes at as low prices as any firm in the city. He never marks his goods high enough to sell them at half of the marked price, and the people have too much sense to believe anybody will sell goods "regardless of cost," or sell shoes for "75 cents that are as good as $4.00 shoes." All he asks is that you examine his shoes and prices and he is satisfied that you will agree that he is selling as low or lower than any of the windy advertisers. all&wt

Ten excursionists to the Shiloh battlefield got home this morning, all well and happy, and loaded down with relics from Shiloh. On the steamer Nesbitt last evening at Evansville the excursionists passed resolutions of thanks in which they remembered the Decatur G. A. R. band, whose members so often cheered the natives of the "Sunny South" by their enlivening music. The relics brought home by Comrade Keyple and others will be shown at the next meeting of Dunham Post. Capt.
Hartley is remembered with a hickory stick out of Shiloh. It will make him a
